Workshop IdEP in Sustainable Economics

March 11-13, 2025 in Airolo, Switzerland

Call for papers

Submission deadline: Sunday, December 1, 2024, at 23:59 CET

We are pleased to announce the first Workshop IdEP in Sustainable Economics, organized by PhD students and postdoctoral researchers from the Institute of Economics (IdEP) at the Università della Svizzera italiana (USI).

The workshop offers a venue of discussion for applied economics research on broad sustainability topics: energy, climate, health, development, gender, and labor economics. The event is targeted to early-career researchers, PhD candidates, and Post-Docs.

Keynote Speaker: Ludovica Gazzè

Associate Professor of Economics, University of Warwick

The workshop will be a blend of academic and outdoor activities, where participants will present their work and engage in activities such as skiing, snowshoeing, or hiking. The location will be the USI Casa della Sostenibilità in Airolo, a venue uniquely designed to promote education on sustainability while interacting with the local environment.

How to apply

We encourage early-career applied economists to submit their research on a wide range of topics, including but not limited to i) Environmental, energy, and climate policies; ii) Healthcare and health economics; iv) Development economics; v) Gender equality; vi) Labor markets.

Please upload your paper or extended abstract in PDF format using this link by Sunday, December 1, 2024, at 23:59 CET. Selected applicants will be notified by mid-January, 2025.

Funding, accommodation and logistics

There is no participation fee. Meals during the workshop will be provided for all attendees. While participants will need to cover their own travel and accommodation expenses, limited funding may be available for those with restricted travel budgets. Sports equipment may also be available for those interested in outdoor activities.

Location

Casa della Sostenibilità, Via della Stazione 46, 6780 Airolo, Svizzera.
